Hands on History Series Begins at Knife River Indian Villages

Stanton, ND: The Hands on History Series begins Saturday, July 5, 2014 at Knife River Indian Villages National Historic Site. Three Saturdays in July, the public can try their hand at various skills that were part of the Hidatsa Mandan culture.

Kicking off the series on July 5 is Make Games, Play Games. From 1:00-3:00 p.m., join park staff in making traditional games. You can make a bull roarer, a colored stick game, and a cup and bead game. All supplies will be furnished.

The visitors can play double ball and the plum game in addition to the games they have made. Modern games like hop scotch, jump rope, and hula hoops will be available to play,

Other activities in July include beading on July 12 and pottery on July 19. All activities are free and supplies for each one will be furnished.

Come out to the park on each Saturday and to make games, bead, and make pottery. For more information, please contact the park at 701-745-3300.
